

WAR AND PEACE IN QAJAR PERSIA: IMPLICATIONS PAST AND PRESENT

A two day conference to be held on Friday 15 and Saturday 16 July 2005 at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, U.K.

This conference, by focusing on the historical and geopolitical interactions between Western strategic interests and those of Iran and the larger Persian Gulf, aims to offer new and critical historical insight on the policies and strategies already in play in the region and how they relate to current security and energy concerns.

REGISTRATION FORM

To reserve a place at the conference, please print off this registration form and complete it in full. Once we have received your payment, we will send you confirmation of your reservation by email.

Please write in black ink and complete in BLOCK CAPITALS.
